interscholastic star scholarship awards

Five Idaho high school juniors have been named as the 2014 recipients of the Interscholastic Star Student Recognition Scholarships, which are awarded annually by the Idaho High School Activities Association and its official sponsor, The United Dairymen of Idaho.

Samuel O'Brien Weeks, Highland (Craigmont) High School; Kaleala Bass, Grangeville High School; Kristine Dayley, Fruitland High School; Sydney McRoberts, Century High School; and Erin Todd, Rocky Mountain High School were selected from a field sixty-four outstanding students who were nominated by their school principals. Other finalists were Shelby Tillotson, Mackay High School; Mackenzie Weatherford, Nampa Christian High School; Hayden Hoopes, Weiser High School; Christian Fuller, Preston High School; and Christian Cousins, Lake City High School.

Nominees for the scholarships are exemplary students who participate in IHSAA-sponsored sports and activities. Each application includes an essay, recommendations from school administrators, description of athletic and activity participation, and service to school and community.

Interscholastic Stars will receive a $1000 scholarship to the college of his/her choice, and will be recognized at the IHSAA Hall of Fame banquet in Boise on August 6. The United Dairymen of Idaho will also contribute $1000 to the recipients' schools and $500 to the finalists' schools.

Samuel O'Brien Weeks, son of Nathan and Patty Weeks, participates in cross country, basketball, track and baseball at Highland (Craigmont) High School. He is also active in band and student government, currently serving as ASB Vice President. Samuel is involved in BPA, National Honor Society and Lewis-Clark Valley Boys and Girls Club.

Kaleala Bass, daughter of Shaun and Laree Bass, participates in cross country, basketball and track as well as choir at Grangeville High School. Other activities include student government, youth legislature and American Legion Girls' State as well as numerous community service projects.

Kristine Dayley, daughter of Dwayne and Kelly Dayley, participates in soccer and track at Fruitland High School, holding leadership positions in all of her activities. Kristine is also a member of Fruitland's band along with BPA, FFA and student government.

Sydney McRoberts, daughter of Drew and Cindy McRoberts, participates in soccer, basketball and tennis at Century High School. She has also participated in debate and currently participates in student government. Next year Sydney will serve as ASB co-president at Century.

Erin Todd, daughter of Jeff and Wendy Todd, participates in volleyball and choir at Rocky Mountain High School. She is also active in a variety of leadership groups including student government, National Honor Society and other community service organizations.
